The Prologue

When that Auguste with hire sonne bold
The sommer fieldes hath touched and maden gold,
And kist the grain and fruit so lustilye
That harvests will be gathered thankfullye
Longe days give way to longer nights again
And welcome cometh the autumnes fogge and rain.
So moveth seasons by Nature's rule
Thanne soone students returneth hem to school.
They wende hir way to schools of sondry
 lond
A pilgrimage they maken to train hir mynde.
Fro many states, even fro the nation's ende
To Sewanee's mountain on hir way they wende.

One verray foundation didst the Bishops take
A school of arts and sciences to make
That gentle sons (and daughters) might be lede
To liberal thought, on Christ's faire teaching fede.

An hundred years of saints Sewanee's growne
The fruit of bishops' dreams now can be knowne.
Among the several students ther we fynde
Many of diverse ways and diverse kynde.

They gather now at Chattanooga's airport
The last steps of hir Mountain trek to start.
On to a busse marked SOC eek files
Eager to travel soone the final miles.
And I was soone of hir compaignye
I to you wil retell alle I did see.

A man ther was who lyked to partye,
Of licour and spirits he tooke most hardye.
This merye Partyeer with yén of rede,
He drinketh ful mucche thanne seeketh bedde.
Wel in his cuppes, yé lidde sagge,
He doeth disco, forsaketh shagge.

Studio 54½

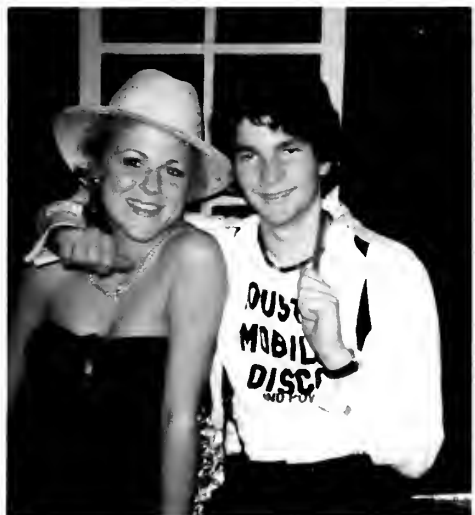

While with the dammes he tryeth to score,
His friens sayeth, "Sooth he beeth hard core."

Alle mannere of drinke clubbes he belongeth
To gaitore and droppe trowe he longeth.
Bookes, classes, and studye he scorneth
Yit must he studye lest beere moneye be shorne.

Stat her a woodsman Dannon by name,
Canoe and hyke earneth him grete fame,
Myndeth he noon, nature acten his canon
Down Brakefielde Road skippeth joyful Dannon.
With bloodshot yen and sanguine beard
With paddle and backpack heavilye geared;
Of flanneled shirt and vibramed toes
With noon of the forest beeth he foes.
In health sprang that youth of fiery speed
Inspired by Nike to fleetest deeds.
Past ponds and faire hills he journied until
Beyond the wenden path he reached a rill.
Fro behind a tree appeared maidens three
Who dancing, beckoned him most naturalee.

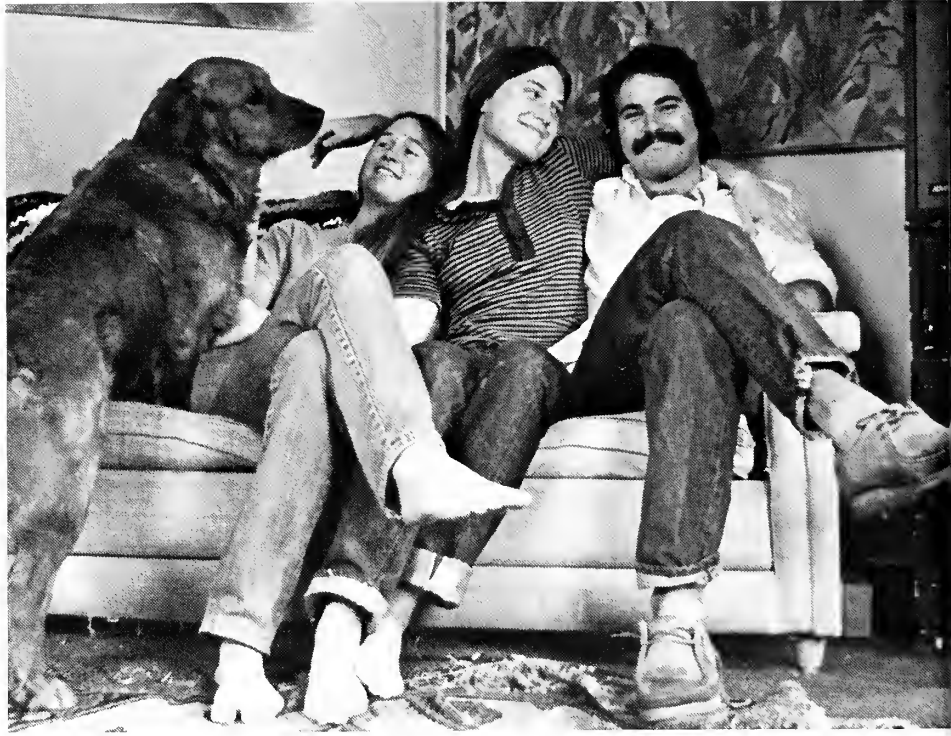

With legges of golden hair and yèn
of blue
She begged for the songe he loven and knew.
"Snif the aire as gold-hewn threads
of lyfe
For I am freer than laden clouds of strife.
Tweedlededee Tweedledum on I to Cheston's Kingdom," Laudeth younge Dannon of his precious freedom.

The Woodlondes man weareth flannel and blue jeans
An his windows beeth covered wyth rusting screens.
Perhaps these lodginhs were condemned longe ago.
Yit those who lyve ther ne care ne knowe.
More earthlye folke the world has no yit
seene,
Yit to Woodlondes the world has not yit
beene.
Granola an yogurt the thyngs he eate
Whilst running 'round grinning wyth unclad feete.
Wyth som people he do not get alonge
For som, gayite an simplicite be wronge.
I do not meane to saith he lacketh feeling
Juste that he sendeth the status quo reeling.

A studente be ther wyth a Byble grete
Who ne believeth in luk ne chance ne fate.

Christ be his king, an that he sayeth ful
loud

Be he alone or in a studente crowd.
Ne juste to arts and science his mynd he bends

But even studyes scripture wyth his friens.
At Gailor's board he bows his hede in thanks

His fellowes laugh "Who be these pious cranks
Who maken a show of thanking God for foode
Whan they, lik we trowe it be ne goode?"
His fellowes quake whan he hem passeth bye,
Fearing he'll say "Praise God" rather than
"hi".

In clan he speaketh so that his faith be knowne.
knowne,

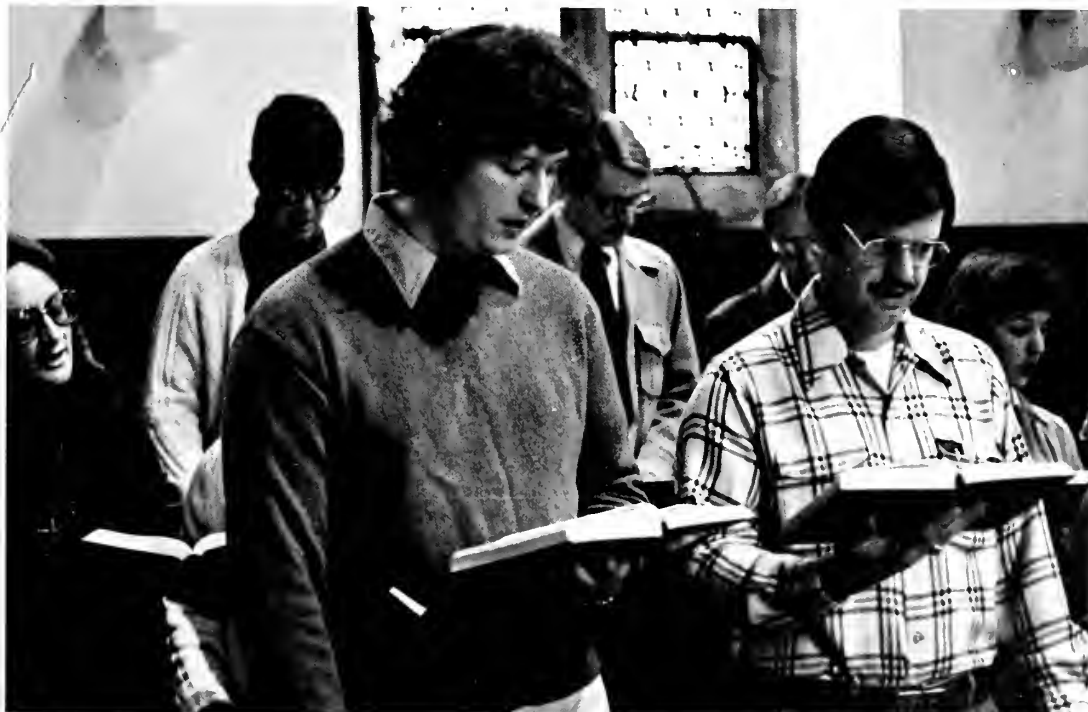

An asketh the doctor in his tattered gowne,
"How readeth the text Dynamics of Thy Falth
In Harmony wyth wat the Byble saith?"

On Wednesdays he, wyth fyfty griens o more Gathers, an other studentes asketh, "what for?"
Be this the place wher holye rolling's done?
Ne, they juste sing an praye and have som fonne
They also hyke, an square dance, an above
Alle else, striveth to exhibit Christe's love.

On fro the seminarye was on busse,
It was clear this man was no lik us.
Matins he sayeth ech morne, an communo in the eve
On Wednesday whan he ensemble in communitie.
Dailye classe yon studente undertaketh in histoire,
Theologye an Byble, reading, an meeting for choir
Gvyng homilies, prayeing in the day an in the noir.
Do all the seminaryans in Sainte Luke's chappelle
an tow'r
The librairie's a favorite playce for reading
an for jeste
An more lerning in the B. C. (tho in yon Pubbe he lerneth beste!)

An still more from residente fellowes an dist-
 guished gueste,
 None matcheth the Dean for witte, tho, at weeklye
 Wednesday feste.
 At table or at classroome, in chappelle or in groupe
 God's chosen menne st wommenne, in ecclesiastic troupe,
 Gather forth in love an faithe an eternalle hope,
 To spread the Gospell lantern in alle its brilliyant scope.

Vice Chancellor
Ayres Installed

A professor ther was of grete mynd
Pupils sayeth professors
cometh in kyndes.
Ther are spacee, brillyante, an even prepee
Yit noon could agreeth on which beeth
he.
Tweede coat an flowered ties he weareth
On topst of alle tattered gowne
he beareth.

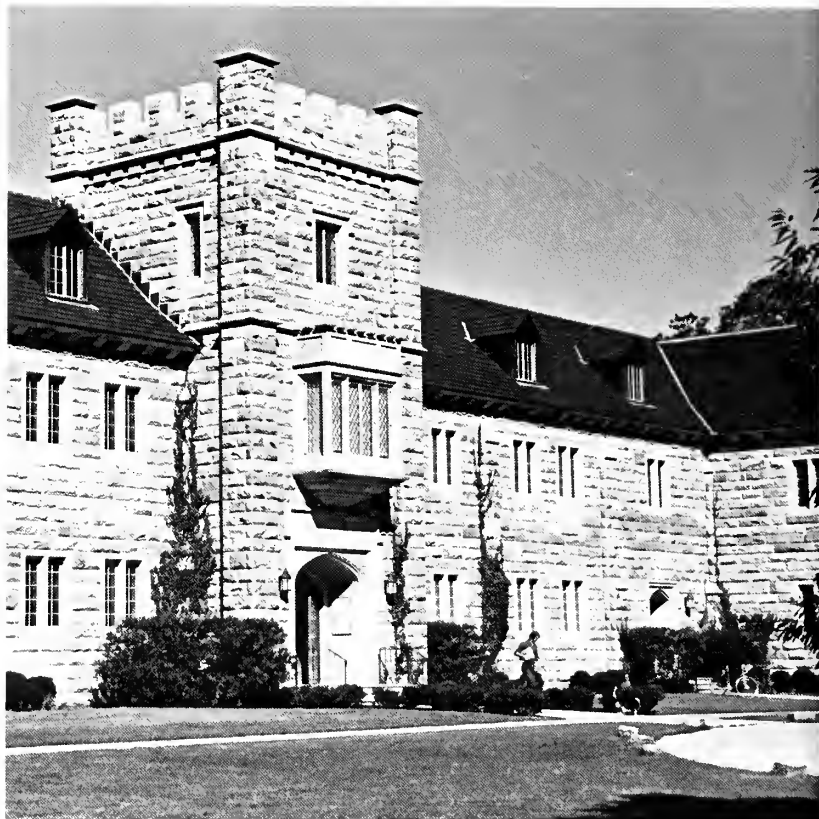

Alle mannere of thynge he loveth to
speeke,
Once he didst lecture his classe a ful weeke.
Whan mentionneth "teste" his studentes shaketh
If sayeth he "easye" hard did he maketh.
He tortureth studentes wyth grete-
piled work
From reading an note-taking he never shirke.
Sooth liketh he wyth studentes to meete
At pubbe or golfe shoppe by youth
he seate.

There was a pre-med amongst the groupe
Who in Woods Lab was throwne for many a loop.
The hallowed laboratorie knowne as Woods
Be filled wyth tubes, an masse glasse goodes.
An the wispering studente scurryes 'round about Discussing thyngs of which we alle knowe naught.
Strengre storyes have been tolde of boyling
vats
Of chemicals an thyngs he doeth to rats.

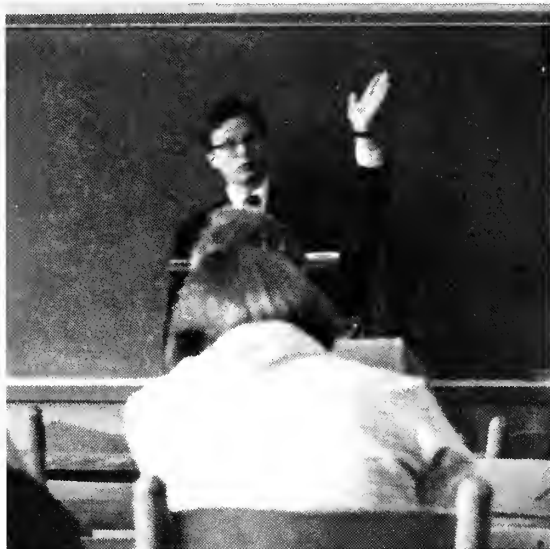

He speeketh in formulas communicating
New scientific reasons ne'er abating.
An taketh delyte in his olde dustye books,
Of science into which he sinketh his hookes.
To med skool be his grete ambitioun
An in Woods Lab he geteth muche amunitioun.

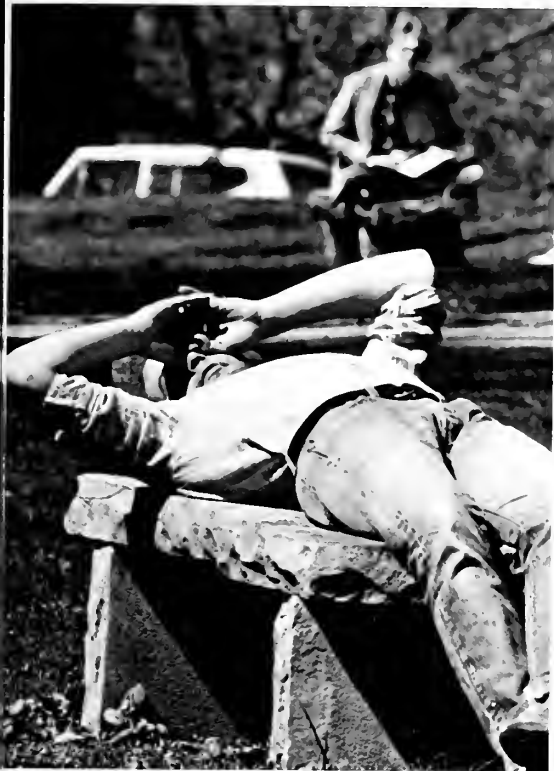

The Walsh Ellet girl stode an saiden clearlye:
"Two kynds of knowledge the world holds dearlye.

Knowledge be maden of numbers o letters,
Yit Walsh feels numbers bynd oon in fetters
Humanistic concerns marken oure hallmarke,
Not like the numbered world which be bleak an starke.

We trowe letters an numbers oon muste sewe,
To growe that perfit knowledge oon striveth to knowe."

The Walsh Ellet studente can reade, write,
and type
Yit poore markes on papers caus her to gripe.
Yit grad skool replies bringeth loud shouts
of glee:
"Boy I'm so gladde I goon to Sewanee!"
So oure morale should be taken in fulle,
Ther's more to a Walsh prof thanne pompous bulle.
Though Walsh does no promise future without stryfe,
It gyveth understanding an zeste for lyfe.

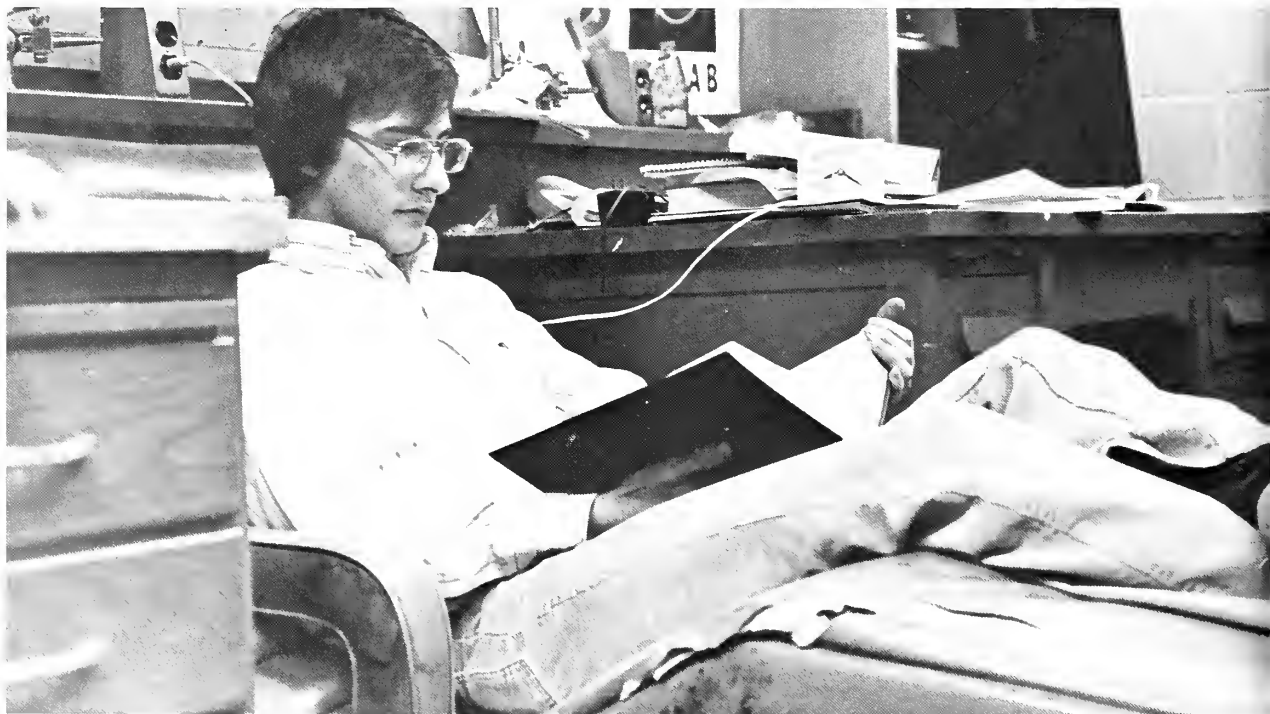

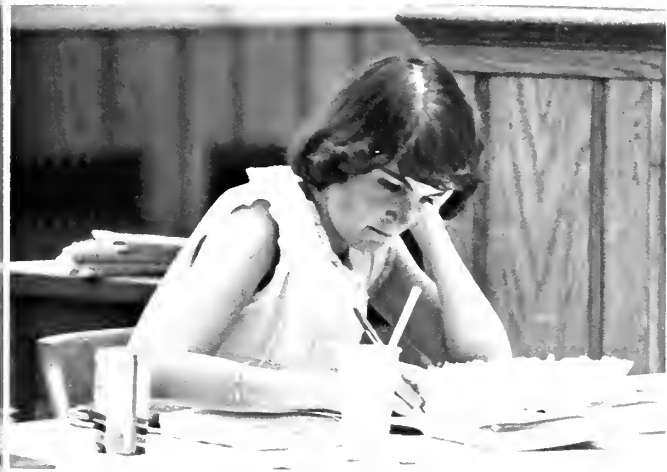

Back in the darkest corner of the busse
Young Absolon doth lurk, apart from us,
His countenance beeth pale as creame of wheate
An, tho it be chic, his garb beeth far from neate.

The first becaus he seeth not the sonne
For weekes on end, for he beeth such a oon
As in Night Studye's deepe an gloomye hole
Doth pass ech nite, an blinking lik a mole,

Emergeth but to dine or go to class
As to his dress — he looketh drumpled in masse.
He sleepeth not, but o'er bookes
doth pore.
His nose be flat as any marble floor.
He's kept it to the grindstone every day
Whether he e'er smyleth, none can say.

A young man among us soon rose to speak
 He was known to us all for he be the Greke.
 Clad in the favorable dress of his race
 With khakis, topsiders he be well-laced,
 A button-down shirt his frame graced
 Along with a sweater, alligator in playce.
 With pride he did glow for all I had seen,
 Acknowledging his debt to L.L. Bean.
 Now he was some deal boring to us most
 Of the mugs of ale he drank didst boast.
 His tongue was familiar, we had heard it all
 Tale of the house, the party, frat football.
 On his arm I did spy a brittle clad lass
 Her sweater alone for a beacon would pass.
 Monogram and gold beads attracting every yen
 She be the Greke too, a Theta Gamma Phi.
 Surely these two on the right side of Gailor had sat

Yit you didst wonder, which side be that?

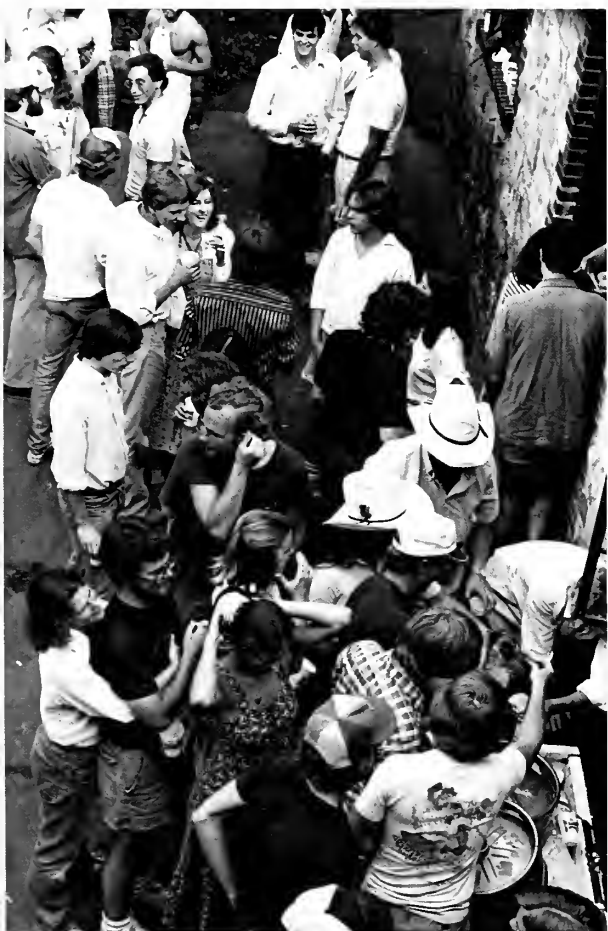

Margaret Flowers, third from left, Homecoming Queen.

With the younge Greke were a lustye band of men
They were his brothers, his fraternity kin,
At tymes they didst seem a curyous team
But many a tyme together beeth seen.
Ther in a sweate suit stood the jocke, the stud
Yit wouldst he feint gyving oon drop of blood
Never to be seene wythout Nikes on hande
He playeth every mannere of sport in the londe.
Sitting atop a rocke, his black gowne flowing
The skolar rested, his lerning glowing

Alle the other men were gladst he didst stay
His knowledge helpen rayse the frat G.P.A.
An amongst them was the oon trown as partyer
Of alle the souls ther were noon heartyer.
Ther beeth many others amonge this lotte
Many be alik, many be notte.
Hir position on the mountain neer clear
Nonetheless they beeth together, year after year.

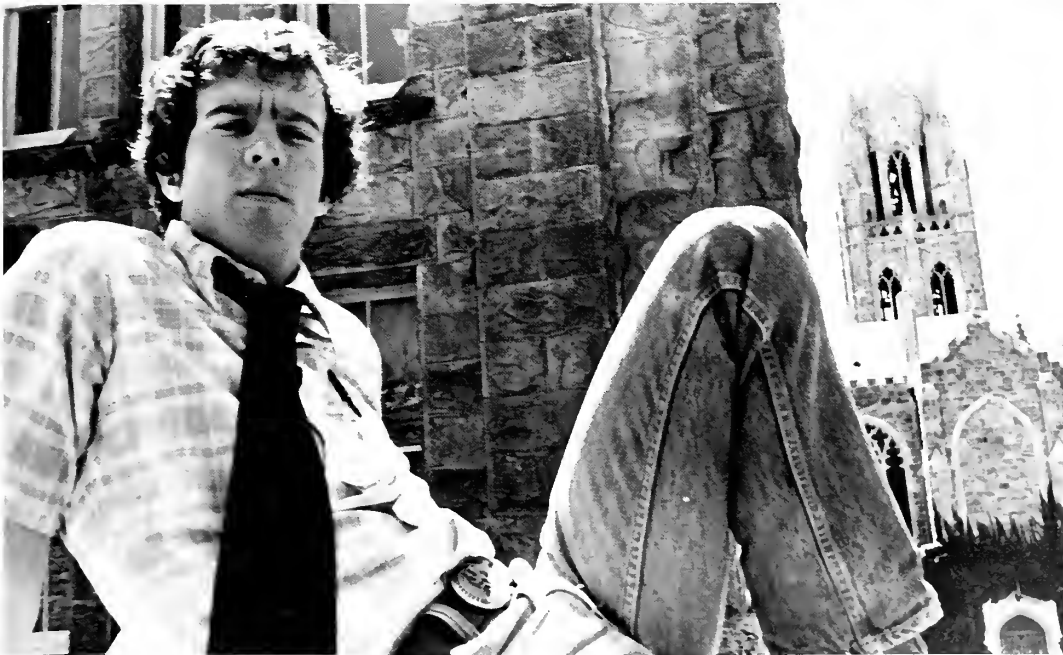

David Lodge, Brodes Scholar

Tell thee a tale o tow o three
Of the lustye younge man trown as the BMOC
This leader fynde pleasure in the elete scoietye
Highlander, Wellington, an the Blue Key.
Diverde he beeth oon purpose in mynde
His ambitious drives be never confynd.
Tho he be lerned, no tyme for a studye format
He sleepeth no more than doth a Woods Lab rat.

Inconstante in herte, an ever in bisynesse
Brief flyngs be many no tyme for faithfullness.
Once follower, soone becomleader skilled
His passion for power is never fulfilled.

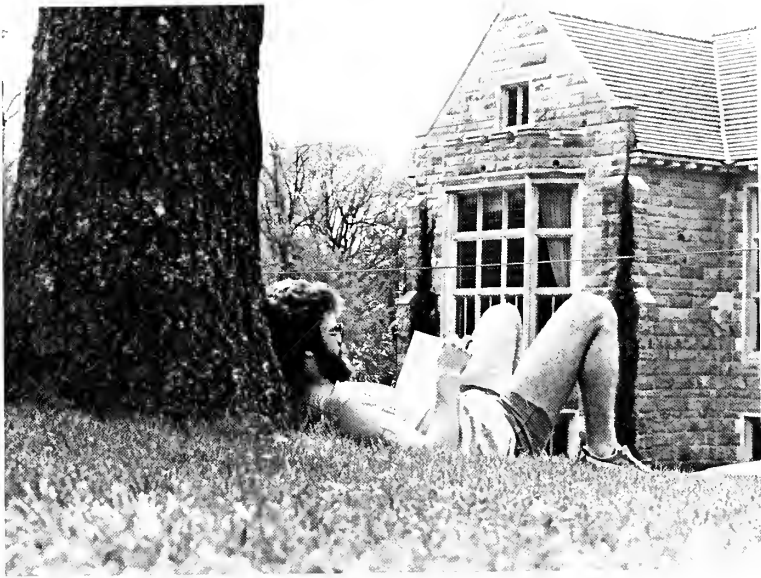

In gownes black as nite he swoop alle around
At OG, SA, Proctor's meetings be found.
He control every facet of oure studente lyfe
Enforcing dorm rules an quelling civil stryfe.
Wise judgements pronounced form the lyps
of this man
It is our joye to be following him.
Oure leader, oure mentor, the idols of Zeus,
We be forever subject to his abuse.

No group be ther wyth lynes so firm an stronge
As those of classe, of years, be right o wronge.
Ech classe by year has its learning's laced
By markes an signs of a sytem of caste.
The youngsters, trod upon by oon an alle,
Witless, pull out hir haire by mid-term's falle.
Cockye they beeth an often fain be bolde,
To trowe everythng, yit beleeve alle they be tolde.

Handle they muste hir plentye foode an ale
But mere attempt at the same turns strongest pale.

Sofmoers to show the world a jauntye face,
Work beste to keep new youngsters in ther playce.

Yit fear ther is that gyves to throtes a lumpe,

The dreaded deadlye beeste of Sofmoer Slumpe.

Tis Juniors face that year of hardest work
Alle 'round them feerce skolastic dangers lurk;
A cours of this of that, requirements mette
No takers on a year's survival bette.

The Elder's feere of the reele world outsyde
Growes wyth rejection pyle of jobs applied

An skores of skools that do not accept Alle hopes an dreemes an plans b'for hem swepte.

More classes cut as Senyors
falle to slak
They partye more wile rank saves
hem from flak.
Yit joy of sadness reigns o'er
those who trowe
The tyme muste come, an soon, whan alle muste go.

 n the busse 'midst canvas, tubes an frame
 Sat the artist who painteth wyth the same.
 Whan at nite the moon riseth hygh,
 An doth on olde gray Carnegie spy,
 Longe, narrowe lites from windows poure
 Whan alle else be quiet 'cept for a snore.
 The Artist, paint-splattered jeans an shirte,
 face an haire
 Doth maken his home, his lyfe up ther.

The professor curseth the noyseye Artist's toyle
An hopes for the moment his labors to foyle.
"Hammer an saw I muste," he saide
An banged away 'till the sky be rede.

A co-ed was ther wyth Wallabye boote
 Who lyveth eeh day by branche an roote
 The weekes turneth into monthes so faste,
 Yit days are naught quite how longe they laste.
 The clock begins to scream at six and thirtye
 She lyes abed an utters wordes ful dirtye.
 An houre passeth as she turns an fidgettes
 While onward goeth the clycking of the digettes.
 She willn't breakfaste becaus she's on a dyet
 Butte seeth the doughnute trayan can't gette byit.
 No oone moremorsele sillshe touch today
 Unles at noone the cookies looke okay.

Stydye finished she returneth to the dorm,
 An feasteth late at nite on popped corn.
 The popcorn draweth a crowd of frienly gossyps
 Who has the latest news it's a tosse-up.
 No date but that won't keepe her from the kegge
 After a fewwe she start to shake a legge.
 She talk an shagge an drink a lotte of brew
 The kegge ronnes drye, that's alle the party'e thru
 Dawn arriveth wyth cursed belles a clangyning
 Into her hede which bye now be hangyning.
 An so you seeth Sewanee lyfes a breeze
 Eek day the co-ed glydes thru wyth such ease.

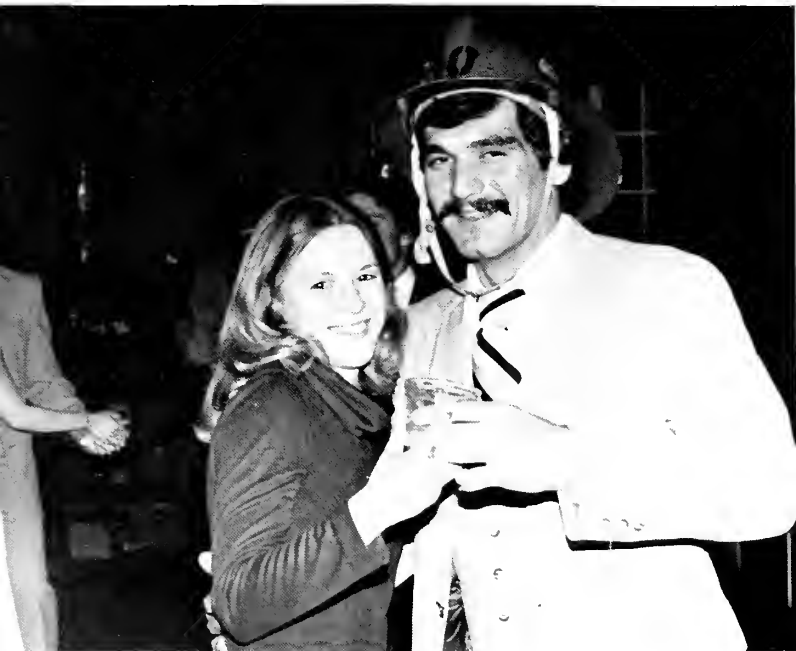

An on the busse a fireman satte
 Wyth sootye face an brite rede hatte.
 Alert be he an well prepared
 For whan the syren's blaste be ayred.
 In classroome once he hearden the
 sounde,
 Throwing bookes an deske alle
 around.
 Or if in Gailor the horne didst bray
 Lik litening he would than away.
 Alas poore man he could no reste,
 A nervous twitch hadde him obsessed.
 Perplexen an tiren of alarms false
 Yit to contrye clubbe an balle he doth walse.
 Ful chivalry this man desired
 In rede suspenders he was attired.

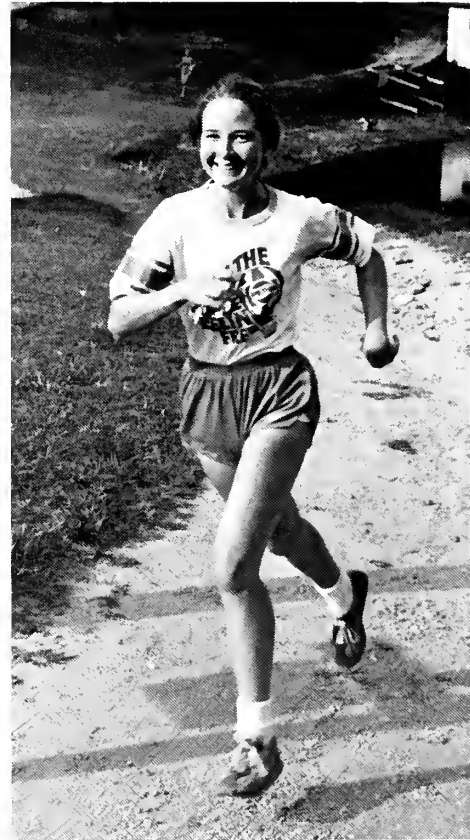

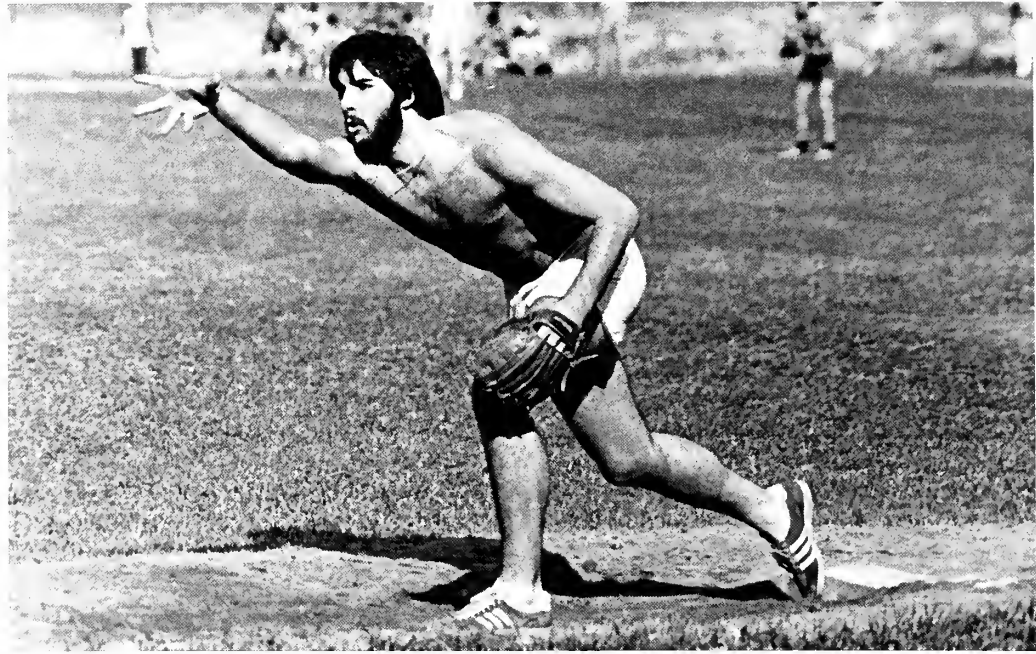

A member of an elite group doth stareth,
As on our way the old busse us doth bareth.

A space cadet be she who looke so blanklye
Ful odde are her habits, those the spacee
so franklye.

Wel doeth she in pursuits skolarlye
Whan fyndeth she assignments in roome squalore.

Ful solemne these persons walketh at trees
Hir bodyes in pain, hir myndes in pease.

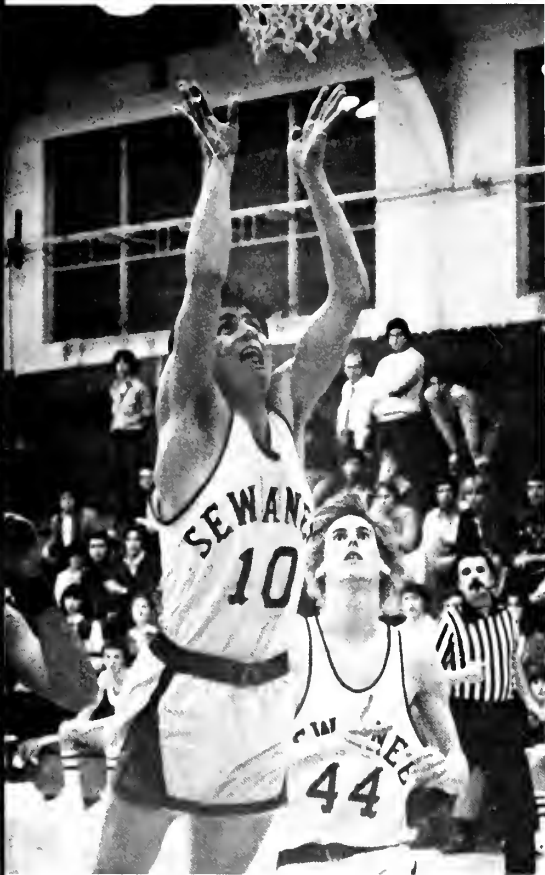

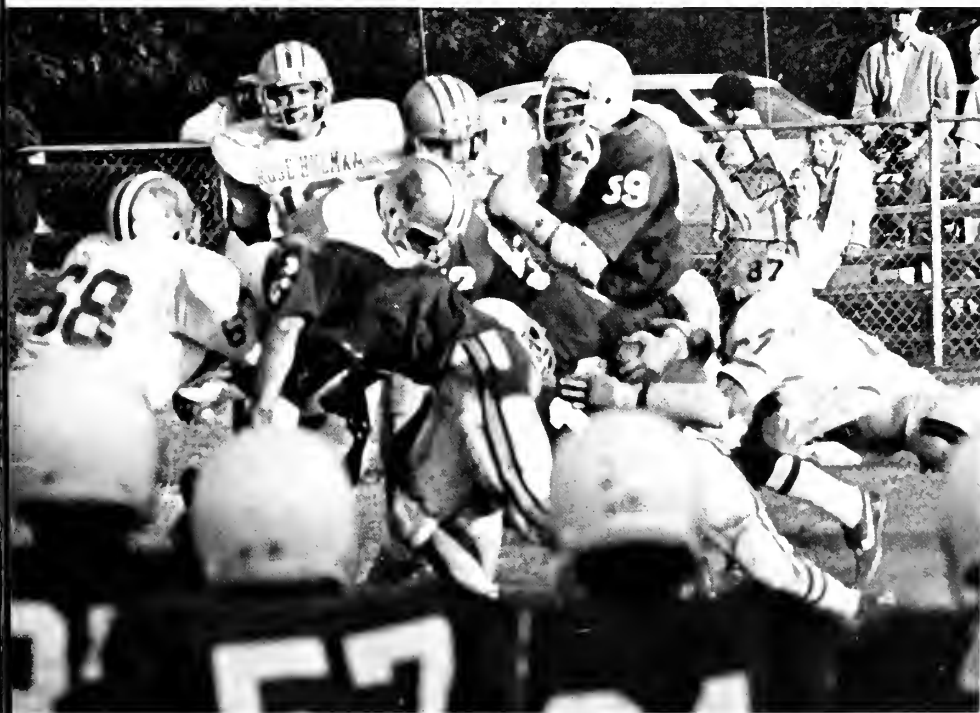

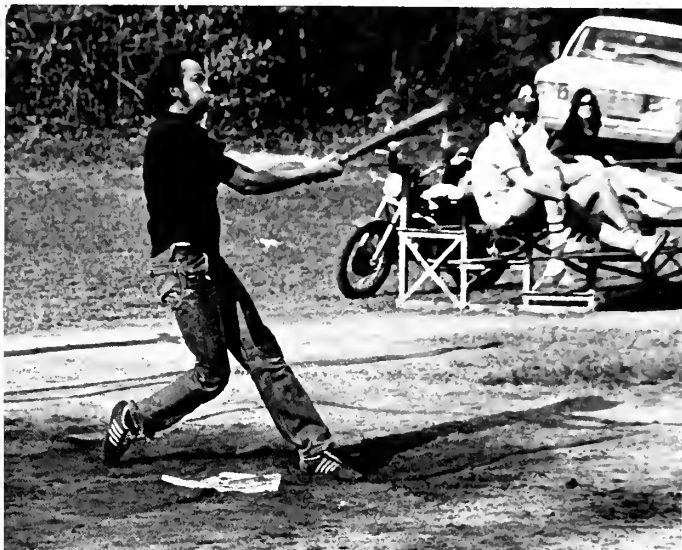

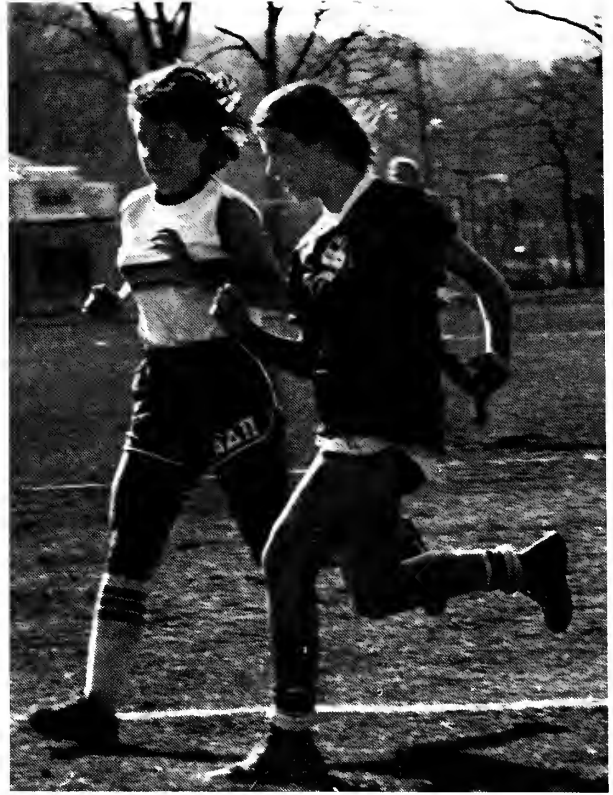

The jocke, the champioun, the athlete classe
On floor and fielde holdeth solemn masse.
It's not his faulte they are not winning,
For Sewanee's more concerned wyth sinning.
O baskets an bruises, bases an breaks,
Even the bookeworms geteth Wednesday Night Steaks!
But here be why I praiseth his mighte:
How can I argueth wyth "Yea Sewanee's Righte!"
O the Sewanee jocke has vim and verve
Against such oddes he needeth much nerve.
The basketball star cannot vowe a fake,
The honor code sayeth this beeth a mystake.

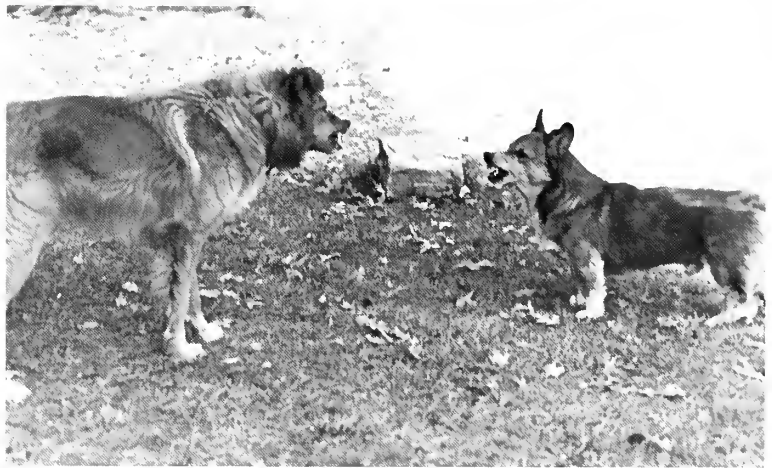

The wrestler always be at a dismaye,
For his Sewanee tie geteth in the waye.
An who can ronne after hitting a slider.
When a blister be forming from new top-syders.
O how can he be expected to win
When alle the goode players are playing I. M.!
But through his tryals and travails
A few lynes on football should hammer the nail.
The football jocke, he taketh couráge,
Abandoning bookes for briar massage.

To meete the foe upon some fielde
Wythout a sword, wythout a shielde.
Alle the jocke has, to render harme,
Be three hundrede poundes of Sewanee charme.
O the conflict, gore an guts,
the lame excuse, the "ifs an buts."
But alle be not loste at the final cheere,
"No," cryes Carter, "There's always next yeare!"
An why doeth this jocke stick to his trade?
"No scholarship," cry he, "I'm juste wel payde!"

A champion of causes loste was ther
Who on his backe wounds of battle bear.

His face was worn by the efforts of the years
O'er which were spent muche tyme an tears.
Grave beeth the injustice he faced
What he learned that for freshmen he be displaced.
Much of Sewanee beeth filled wyth a doome
That lefteth many battling for a roome.
But these be not his onle caus
The academs, they also hadde hir flaws.
The "comp" that caused many a horrid sneer—
That awful teste at end of senyor year.
Our friend proposed to terminate this "comp"
Wythout endang'ring cyrcumstance an pomp.
But hevens no, the profs they were opposed
At slitest worde hir mouths in grimace frozed.
So muche for that, too thick be custom's fogge
An oncle was ther left the Gailor dogge.
Hir feete have treed thru ev'ry classe
From Finite 103 to Sunday morning masse.

The Greke's Tale

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

The Alpha Tau Omegas, the oldest fraternity on the mountain, enjoyed a successful year in all aspects of activities at Sewanee. For the seventy-fourth year the Tau's hosted a Christmas Tea for the entire Sewanee community, honoring Dean Stephen E. Puckette. During the spring, the ATO's sponsored a can food drive to benefit needy families in the county, and finished second in the community Help Day for work done to help beautify the domain. The ATO ski trip proved to be rememberable and successful, as did the first annual Spring Founder's Day Formal Dance. In intramurals, the Tau's made the playoffs in all major sports, capturing first place in B-League Basketball.

BETA THETA PI

This past year has been one of the most important in recent Beta history. A large increase in active membership, continued awareness of and recognition in community projects, and extra-curricular service in the arts and organizations have made for an encouraging year.

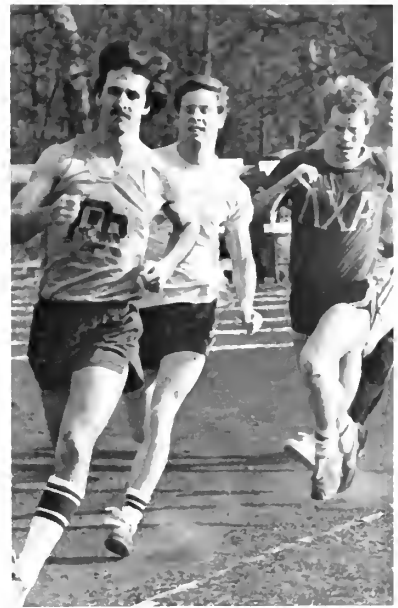

The social scene was highlighted by a successful presentation of our annual "Casino Night" party, a much talked of "Gong Show," and a campus-wide scope and attitude. Several IM play-off spots have encouraged the expectations of next year's athletic competition.

Once again, Bata are active in organizations and various activities encompassing every aspect of Sewanee's experience.

To the Chi Psi fraternity at The University of the South the academic year 1978-79 has indeed been a good year. All of the brothers at Alpha Tau Delta of Chi Psi expended much effort and were greatly rewarded. The top fraternity in academics, the unselfish display of campus and community concern on Help Day, are a few of the achievements of the fraternity.

A very good rush brought the fraternity many new talented brothers, and the support of the alumni was evident by the several who returned for initiation. The outstanding alumnus this year was a University faculty member, Dr. Eric Naylor. Officers for the 1979-80 academic year are: President—David Dunn-Rankin, Vice-President—Pat Rakes, Secretary—Paul Perrea, and Treasurer—Mark Andrews.

The 1978-79 year for the Tau Delta Dekes was one of promise, achievement, and fun! The Pledges were sensational, especially with their Christmas Tree selection, and the alumni support was more than appreciated. The Chapter won the Blood Drive again, we hosted the 8th. Annual Easter Egg Hunt. The Learning Center's Halloween Party and continued with our lecture series.

For the 4th. consecutive year, the maidens of the Plastic Spoon promoted another unforgettable eve at the House. Soon after their presentation came the most absurd regal crowning in Latvian history, etc. . . .

DELTA TAU DELTA

Sewanee's Delts kicked off the 1978-79 school year with the first Toga Party ever held at Sewanee. Aspiring ancients from miles around made this one of the year's most memorable events. The annual Christmas party saw a good time had by all; faculty as well as brothers. Numerous and frenzied tequila bashes helped to bring people out of hibernation during the cold winter months. Not all was fun and games though: Delts raked in a record amount during their annual muscular dystrophy drive in the spring.

Gamma Tau Upsilon's first year was one of hard work, closeness and fun. GTU began the fall semester with a keg party for new students, and held wine and cheese receptions for freshman women. The GTU spookhouse at the Elementary School was a hit on Halloween.

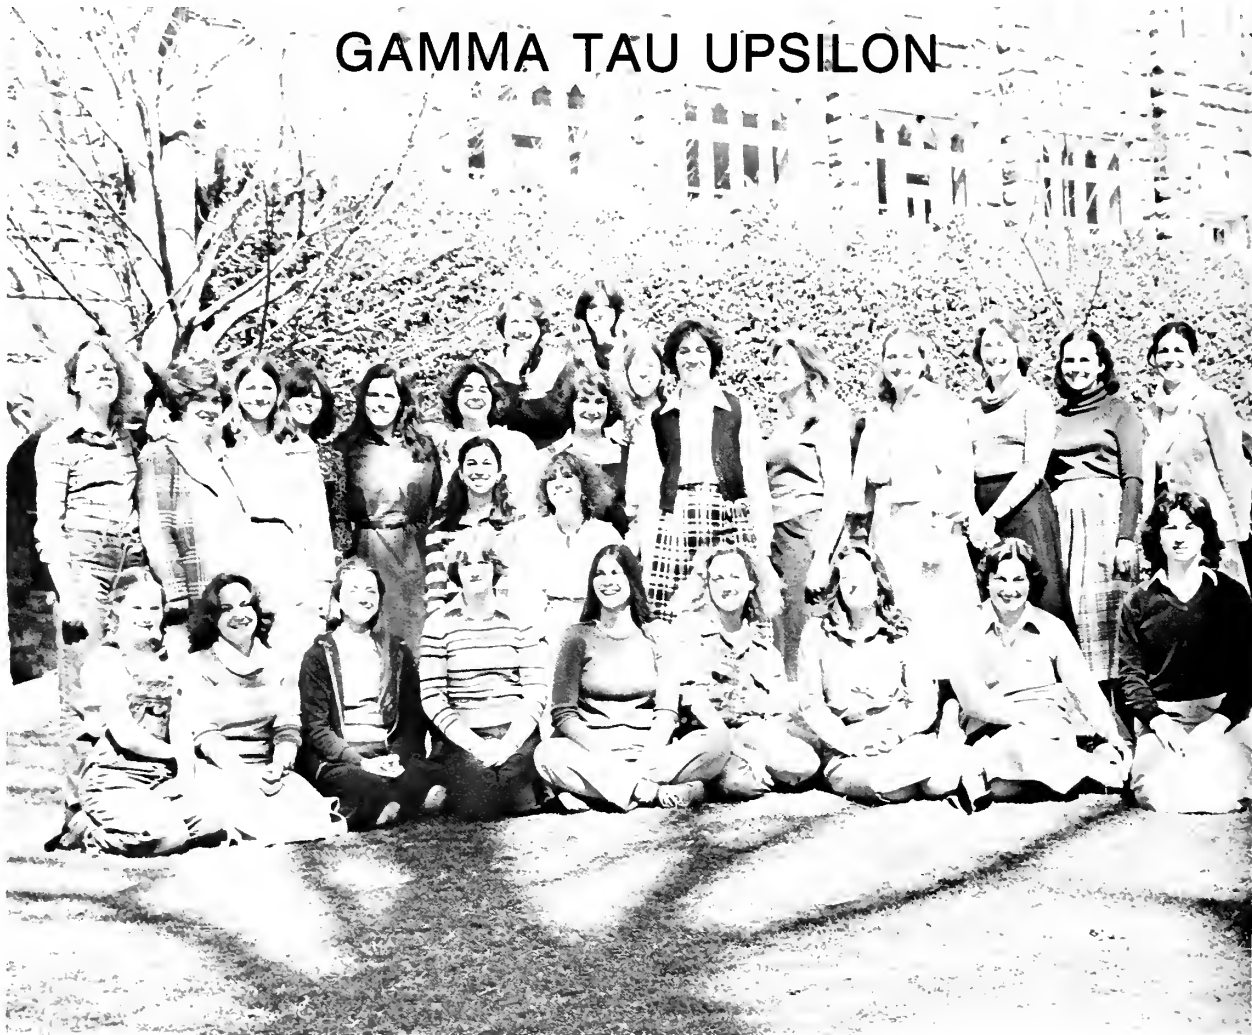

Going through the first formal rush, Gamma Tau Upsilon more than doubled its membership. The new pledges put on a Barn Dance, which was lots of fun, and also helped with fund raising and charity events.

GTU's raffles, donut sales, record and tape sale, and Easter Basket building for the Hospital were all very successful. One of the two GTU teams in the KA bed race won both First Place in the women's division, and Best Dressed Bed. GTU also won Third Place on Help Day. This year was an excellent one and will never be forgotten.

"Then after they had finished the work and got the feast ready they feasted, nor was any man's hunger denied a fair portion. LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

A highly successful rush marked the beginning of a very good year for Iota-Nu Zeta of Lambda Chi Alpha. From the beginning the chapter moved on to excel in all aspects of campus life. Always active in the Sewanee community Chops began the year by cleaning up Abbo's Alley. This concern for the community was further expressed by a Christmas Party for local foster children.

In the area of academics, the Lambda Chi associate class had the highest GPA of any fraternity freshman class on the mountain.

Chops also found time to participate in other activities, capturing second place overall in IM athletics.

The year was rounded out by a varied and exciting social program. A cocktail party for the faculty and a spring formal were two of the highlights.

PHI DELTA THETA

The Tennessee Beta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta started off the year in good form with a pledge class of 21 men bringing membership to 58 members. Mrs. Gass and Mrs. Craig were honored at the Phi's annual Christmas Tea. The annual Bon Voyage Party was successful, but there were several unhappy losers. The Phis finished the year by winning the Intramural Sports Trophy with an unprecedented eight first place finishes out of sixteen events.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

For Gamma Sigma Chapter of the Fraternity of Phi Gamma Delta, this past year was one full of memorable and enjoyable times. Fall brought a successful rush which increased our chapter's ranks. Fall was also livened by the crowning of the Fiji's nominee for Homecoming Queen, Margaret Flowers.

The annual 50's Party warmed the winter months as the entire campus "greased it, back for a nostalgic return to the fabulous fifties. An Easter Egg Hunt for the Sewanee Public School was held jointly with the Alpha Delta Theta Sorority which proved to be greatly enjoyed by all the hunters. This spring saw one of the finest Fiji Island Parties ever held on the Mountain, complete with grass skirts, beach, lagoon, and the Vandales.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

The site of the first chapter house of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity stands on the campus of the University of the South. Sigma Alpha Epsilon was founded in 1856 at the University of Alabama and the Sewanee chapter was established in 1881. The Tennessee Omega chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon is one of the oldest fraternities on the mountain; consequently, its history is one rich in history.

The 1978-79 school year was reflective of our past character with numerous members participating in the Order of Gownsmen, the Honor Council, Ribbon Societies, the Disciplinary Committee, Student Assembly and Proctors. Community activities included active participation in the Red Cross Blood Drive and the Sewanee Community Help Day. In addition, chapter members were active in varsity and intramural sports.

SIGMA NU

The Beta Omicron Chapter of Sigma Nu Fraternity continued its tradition of campus leadership. The fraternity's accomplishments ranged from a Rhodes Scholarship to intra-mural championships. Fall Semester activities included the annual Halloween Costume Party and a Christmas Party for under-privileged children, complete with the Sigma Nu elf. An Oyster Roast, the Easter Bunny Party, two bands, and a Lobster Roast were Spring Semester events.

THETA KAPPA PHI

Theta Kappa Phi had their best year ever in 1978-79. They began the year with projects to raise money for their spring formal. A car wash was held in October and a Disco Party in November. It gave them a chance to "wash up" and disco down. In December they had their second annual Christmas formal for their members and the faculty. Second semester they held a very successful rush, increasing their size with twenty-one new pledges. In February they helped with the Valentine's Carnival at Otey Parish. They held two raffles and a team from Theta Kappa Phi rode for St.

Jude's Hospital. They helped along with several groups at the Sewanee Public School Field Day. Their Spring Formal was a great success. Their pledges were initiated at the end of May. It ended a year of fun and togetherness for Theta Kappa Phi.

No more need for the old Chaucer Dictionary! This year the Cap and Gown has attempted to introduce something new. At long last, body copy and a definite theme appear in the book. I owe my staff endless thanks for the hours spent slaving in the darkroom and over layout sheets in the effort to give Sewanee a better yearbook. Bill Willcox, Chief Photographer, Betsy Olim, Sports Editor, Leah Fendley, Business Manager, and Terri Griggs deserve special credit for hanging in there when the going got tough and the chocolate chip cookies gave out. Thanks also to our advisor, Dean Douglas Seiters, and the Publications Board for their help. Above all, I am deeply indebted to Dr. Gilchrist, Dr. Caldwell, and Gilly, who gave me moral support at a very crucial time.
